

- Margaret; I love the visual. Very good!
- I hear kids a few times saying: "We did this yesterday!"
Are you reviewing and are they aware of it? If you are don't be afraid to tell them.
- you're doing a good job waiting for silence.
- The video: Can you have the things they need to put.
- on your lesson plan you have the video + notes section listed
3x. Is this really necessary. It doesn't contribute to a logical progression. If I had to teach it, I would be unsure of how to approach it.
- The video has great stuff in it. you could get them to glean an awful lot more out of it than the 2+2+1 activity. This is like a glorified exit slip. Videos have the most impact/usefulness when there is an accompanying sheet that covers the key points. after this you can give them an activity where they pair up, share the ideas they got taken go over it together. As it is, it is pretty loose and a lot of kids may have different results. This is fine but can be difficult →
